OUT TO DINNER, STILL DISAGREEING. The jury went out to dinner at 8:30 o'clock, and Recorder Goff gave them permission to stay until 10 P. M. They went to Haan's again. Recorder Goff went away in an automobile to visit friends, telling the court attachés where a telephone message would reach him if he was needed. At this time the report was that the jury stood 7 to 5 for conviction of manslaughter in the first degree, the extreme punishment for which is twenty years in prison. There was still a great crowd in and about the building when the jury were told they could go to dinner and the police started to clear the way. As the people were driven out one door others came in by another. The jury finally got out of the building, but hadn't gone half a block before there was a crowd at their heels. As they walked down Park row under escort there were 200 persons trailing after them. When they started back from dinner, at 9:45 P. M., tagged again by several hundred persons a rival attraction was furnished by the fire apparatus on the way to a downtown fire and there was plenty of excitement along Park row. The jurymen on their way back smoked cigars, and some of them chatted together as they marched. The crowd marched alongside, gaping at them. In front of the Tombs several hundred more formed a lane, through which the jurymen and police marched silently. As they neared the courthouse several hoodlums who had read in one of the evening papers that that was the thing to do cried "Acquit her!" "Free Nan Petterson." The police pushed them back, but did not arrest them for "embracery," which is what the law calls such a performance.

POLICE HAD TO CLOSE A STREET TO THE CROWD.

All day a mob struggled and fought around the building, driven here and there

At 6 o'clock, when shop girls and other At 6 o'clock, when shop girls and other workers were on their way home, the crowd became so great opposite the Bridge of Sighs that the police lined off Franklin street between Center and Elm and would let no one through. Inspector Schmittberger finally took charge of the police and with the reserves of the Leonard street station tried to drive the crowd off. About the same time all those who had lingered in the Criminal Courts Building were shooed away, and only reporters, counsel for Nan Patterson, Messrs. Rand and Garvan and a few strangers were left.

CHARGE PLEASES BOTH SIDES.

Recorder Goff's charge was considered fair by both sides. After the formal charge he considered some seventy-five propositions which the counsel for the prisoner wished to have submitted to the jury. Most of these the Recorder charged, but about twenty he refused to submit, either because in substance he had referred to them himself or because he said they were irrelevant. Of these about six referred to the purchase of the pistol. In effect, Mr. Levy requested that the jury be told that, because of the fact that J. Morgan Smith had not gone on the witness stand, it was not to be assumed that he bought the revolver with which Young was killed. Assistant District Attorney Rand said he considered that this was a question for the jury to decide, and the Recorder, agreeing with him, refused to charge the jury as requested. CHARGE PLEASES BOTH SIDES.

NO OCCASION FOR PREJUDICE OR SYMPATHY. At the outset of his charge the Recorder axid that there was nothing in the death of Young, a racetrack gambler, to excite passion or prejudice in the jury. The trial had been marked by nothing that should withdraw attention from the only issue, whether or not Young had been willed by Nan Patterson, who had been this mistress. There was no place for an or the passion of the pattern of the passion of the pass his mistress. There was no place for an appeal to sympathy, either, any more than o passion; and the idle or maudlin curiosity the jurors had noticed in coming an I going should flot affect their verdict in the least. Neither should they consider the treories advanced by counsel on either side; all they had to consider were the facts as prented in the testimony.

MANSLAUGHTER NOT ELIMINATED. The proposition that their verdict must The proposition that their vertice frust be either murder in the first degree or ac-quittal, as advanced by Mr. Levy, was not to be considered. The Recorder defined murder in the first and second degrees, and murder in the first and second degrees, and the two degrees of mansiaughter. As Mr. Levy had admitted that Young was fulled by a revolver, a dangerous weapon, the second degree of manslaughter could be eliminated, but the jury could convict of any of the others, or could acquit. Continuing, the Recorder said: the Recorder said

"This case rests upon what is called cirturnstantial evidence. Circumstantial evidence is open to the infirmities open to all evidence. It is not absolute certainty.
Circumstances may direct or mislead.
Witnesses may speak the truth or not.
After a close and cautious examination some course must be followed. This course, gentlemen, rests with you.

"All evidence is more or less circumstantial, whether given by eve witnesses or stantial, whether given by eve witnesses or not, and if the facts brought out can be taken together and all point to one con-clusion, circumstantial evidence may be more satisfactory than direct evidence. NO MATTER HOW YOUNG WAS RILLED IF PRISONER DID NOT RILL HIM.

"In this case Cæsar Young died on the th of June. There is no dispute here that his death was caused by a pistol shot, so that the crucial question is: Did the defendant kill him? If she dld not you are not called upon to determine whether Young committed suicide or whether he died by accident. You are here to determine whether this defendant killed him. Did she fire the shot that killed him? him. Did she fire the shot that killed him? If she did not, you need not determine how he was killed. If you attempt to arrive at any other conclusion than the one you are charged with finding you may find yourselves in a maze of speculation.

"The motives urged for the crime are anger because cast off as mistress or in the property of the crime are anger because cast off as mistress or the crime are anger because cast off as mistress or the crime are anger because cast off as mistress or the crime are the crime ar anger because cast on as mistress or chagrin in disappointment at not becom-ing his wife. I charge you that it is not necessary that motive should be proved if you find that the crime was committed. But in determining the value of circum-stantial evidence the question of motive becomes one of great importance, and n this case if there was a motive what

A point considered to be in favor of the a point considered to be in layor of the prisoner in the Recorder's charge was his statement that there was nothing in the evidence to show that the prisoner had expected to meet Young and take a cab ride with him on the morning he was killed. Young sent for her. One prime point the jury had to consider was who bought the pistol, through whose agency it was bought and who took it into the cab.

FINE GAMBLING HOUSE RAIDED. Cops Had Tip on Preparation for Wealthy

Patrons-Negro and Implements Bagged. Inspector Walsh, Capt. Lantry of the East Fifty-first street station and six detectives raided an alleged gambling house on West Forty-fifth street near Fifth avenue about midnight last night. They took one prisoner, a colored man, who gave his name as John Henry, and said he came from

The police had a tip, they say, that something was doing at the place. When they walked up and demanded admittance, Henry, who answered the ring, let them There was no one else in the house. The place was expensively furnished.

It was not until the police searched the cellar that they were sure they were at the right place. There they found concealed gambling stuff, which Inspector Walsh estimated to be worth $3,000. There was one roulette wheel which the inspector said was worth $1,200, two roulette tables. a faro layout, 4,000 chips and other ap-

The police bundled the stuff into a patrol wagon and took it to the station house along with Henry. He was locked up, charged with running a gambling house. He said that he didn't know who owned the place and that he had been hired as a waiter

The police believe the house was fitted up recently for wealthy patrons. Frank Farrell, the police say, owned the house two years ago, but sold it. It has changed hands several times since then.

Henry was bailed out at 1 o'clock this morning by Samuel Emery, who described nimself as a speculator, living at Euclid Hall, Eighty-fifth street and Broadway. He gave as security the brownstone house at 24 West Forty-fifth street, valued at $150,000. Magistrate Steiner accepted bail.

CALL FOR DR. TUPPER. Madison Ave. Baptist Church Wants Philadelphia Pastor-Big Plans.

The Rev. Dr. Kerr Boyce Tupper, now pastor of the First Baptist Church of Philadelphia, received a unanimous call last night to become pastor of the Madison Avenue Baptist Church to succeed the late Rev. Dr. George C. Lorimer who died last year. With the call goes, it is said, an offer of a salary of $10,000 a year and promises of support for considerable institutional

While the officers of the Madison Avenue Church have no positive assurance that Dr. Tupper will leave Philadelphia, they are inclined to believe he will accept. His church in Philadelphia is one of the foremost in the Baptist body and he is one of the best known of the Bapuist clergy. He is 50 years of age, and of Southern birth.

The Madison avenue congregation purposes to carry out, in part at least, the plan for institutional work projected by Dr. Lorimer. He aimed to have on the site of the present buildings at Madison avenue and Thirty-first street a great structure that should be a Baptist headquarters. It is unlikely that the church building will be altered, but a plan to tear down the present chapel building, and erect on the site a modern parish house to cost $75,000, is being considered.

All talk of union of the Madison Avenue Baptist Church and the Baptist Church of the Epiphany further up Madison avenue at Sixty-fourth street has ceased.

THE BRIDGE IS ALL RIGHT.

Some One Saw Routine Repairs Going On and Started a Foolish Scare.

Commissioner Best of the Bridge Department and Chief Engineer Nichols made a hurried investigation of the Brooklyn Bridge at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Somebody walking over the bridge had seen workmen doing something to the cables and had hurried to a newspaper office with a tale that a suspender had "buckled." The newspaper called up the Commissioner and he got the chief engineer.

They found that the bridge was all right and that the alarmist had made the mistake of calling a cable a "suspender." The suspenders are braces running from the cables to the bridge roadway. They can't buckie. What the man had seen was the regular cable gang of the bridge at work winding one of the big cables that run over the towers with wire. This is done in different places many times during a year, but people as a rule don't pay any attention to it.

Just now, they are getting ready to paint the big bridge and the cable gang always of the painters. The wire is the outside tne cables proper and is merely a

MRS. GELSHENEN COMES BACK.

WILL BE SUBPŒNAED AT ONCE IN MORSE-DODGE CASE.

Her Son Says That She Will Remain in the Jurisdiction and That She Has Simply Carried Out Her Plans Without Reference to the District Attorney

Mrs. William H. Gelshenen, whom District Attorney Jerome invited in a letter published just before she sailed from New Jersey for Europe early in January last to come into this jurisdiction and tell him what she knew about the Morse-Dodge marriage and divorce tangle, returned yesterday on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. It was said at the District Attorney's office yesterday that if Mrs. Gelshenen was in this jurisdiction she would be sub pænaed at once and probably to-day. After landing yesterday she and her party went to the Netherland, where she will probably be found to-day. Her son, Walter Gelshenen, who accompanied his mother, said that she wasn't going to try to escape from anybody and would remain in this city for some time. He said:

"My mother has returned because she has finished the trip to Europe which she had planned, and for no other reason. Her return was not hastened by Mr. Jerome or any one else. She has nothing to say in regard to the Dodge-Morse case."

It is understood that Mrs. Gelshenen is staying at the Netherland only while her Fifth avenue residence is being prepared for her. After Mrs. Gelshenen went to Europe the Grand Jury found indictments against Lawyer Abe Hummel and others for conspiracy in the Dodge-Morse case. Previous to sailing she had spent several days in the Continental Hotel in Newark When she arrived at Cherbourg on Jan. she said to a Sun reporter there:

"I am in no way implicated in the Dodge-Morse tangle. The assertion that I furnished Dodge with money to fight extradition from Texas is absolutely untrue and ridiculous. I do not even know Dodge by sight. My trip abroad was arranged months ago and the revelations in the Dodge case did not cause it.

"My relations with Mr. Morse are purely those of a business friend and partner. How could I desire to marry Mr. Morse when he has a wife already? The charge is too absurd. I do not wish to marry Mr. Morse or anybody else. The report that I endeavored to aid in the annulment of the Morse marriage in order to marry Mr. Morse is a black lie. I had no hand in the matter. Mrs. Gelshenen said then that she was going to spend the winter in Cairo, but that if she was wanted here she would cancel her plans and return to New York.

TORNADOES SWEEP NEBRASKA. Four Killed in Omaha-Reports of Damage From All Over State.

OMAHA, Neb., May 3.—Reports of damage rom tornadoes are reaching Omaha tonight from widely different points in the State. The Government weather station has issued a warning that conditions are ripe for tornadoes and has predicted that disturbances of that kind will take place throughout Nebraska. Similar conditions are reported for Thursday. Omaha itself was struck by a cloudburst and whirlwind at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, and four persons were killed and eleven injured, five seriously. The large four story brick building of the Omaha Casket Company was completely wrecked, and the four men killed were among the workmen there, as were most of the injured. In the Union Pacific freight yards nine oaded cars were blown from the track and wrecked. The roundhouse of the Omaha Railroad was partially wrecked and two locomotives damaged. From Spalding, Neb., comes the report that a tornado passed north of that town, destroying several houses. James Davis's house was wrecked and two members of the family injured. Minden, Neb., reports five houses partially destroyed and three freight cars wrecked. Minden is 150 miles from Spalding. Laurel, Neb., reports five houses damaged. All State long distance lines of the Nebraska Telephone Company are down, and details are hard to secure.

M'CORMICK PLEASES FRANCE. His Reference to the Anglo-French Entente

Is Approved. Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. PARIS, May 3.-Apart from the gratificaion caused by Ambassador McCormick's references yesterday, upon the occasion of his presenting his credentials, to the friendship between the United States and France, the unusualness of his allusion to a third Power, namely, Great Britain, draws attention to his remarks. The Temps, after acknowledging the sincerity of the sentiments expressed by the Ambassador and reciprocating them, says that his allusion to the Anglo-French entente clearly shows the disposition of the Americans. The Washington Cabinet has long sought to pursue with that of London a policy of friendly accord and good understanding. It is therefore quite natural that the com mon action inaugurated by Great Britain and France should be regarded with sympathy by the United States. A triple accord is susceptible of being developed for the welfare of those participating and also for the good of the world.

The Petit Parisien says that France can congratulate herself on the development of the American navy, which is no menace to her, and which may be a useful counterpoise.

Irish Reform Association, of which he is He draws a gloomy picture of the conditions in Ireland, although he admits that Mr. Wyndham's land act has done much to improve them. He contends that the Irish must be shaken ut of their apathy and lifted out of their despair, and that the real motive power to accomplish this can only be found in self-government. He desires that the largest possible freedom of action and selfgoverning power consistent with the supremacy of the Imperial Parliament be delegated to Ireland. He condemns what is known as the Castle Government as a very bad sort of bureaucracy and as extravagantly expensive costing twice as much as it would in any other country. Lord Dunraven contends that from two to three million pounds a year could be saved by establishing a rational system.

DANGER IN USE OF X-RAYS.

Berlin Congress Declares Only Skilled Practitioners Should Give the Treatment.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. BERLIN, May 3.-The international congress called to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the discovery of the Roentgen rays closed to-day. The discussions turned largely upon cancer treatment. The final esolution declared that the rays ought not to be employed except by thoroughly qualified practitioners.

Prof. Lessar, an eminent dermatologist, remising that the rays ought not to be applied except in serious cases because their dangerous properties, strongly urged that they are superior to the knife in removing cancerous growths. A few years ago, he said, the imagination did not dream of the success that could be achieved by the use of the rays in cases of gangrenous cancer. He had had only three failures in a hundred cases. Nevertheless the rays were of little use in removing large tumors, their penetrative powers only extending half a centimeter. Wherever there is great suffering he urged the application of the rays because of the relief they give from pain.

LITTLE GIRL IN THE BONFIRE. John Lynch Picked Her Up and Put Out Blaze in Her Hair and Dress.

Boys set fire to a bundle of papers in gutter in Eighty-fourth street between Lexington and Third avenues yesterday afternoon and then stood around and watched the blaze. Every child on the blook ran up to watch the fire and in the group was dent yesterday while doing his stunt. In-stead of cutting a knot on his wife's right shoulder, the bullet from the .22 caliber rifle he used grazed her right cheek. The mishap put an end to the turn and scared five-year-old Nellie Comey of 1494 Third

One of the boys pushed Nellie, and she fell and rolled on top of the blazing papers. She screamed, and so did the other children, but they were all too frightened even to attempt to rescue her. John Lynch of 993 Park avenue was passing on the other side and ran to her sid. He pulled her off the fire and with his hands put out her burning blothing

Gillender is a legally committed inmate of the Ardendale sanitarium in Greenwich, although he is not in any condition which demands that an attendant should accompany him on his walks in the country.

A report was around yesterday that the Tower Building, at 50 Broadway, had been sold and will be torn down to make way for a new skyscraper. The Tower Build-ing was erected about 1880 and is the first ing was erected about 1880 and is the first steel skeleton structure built in this city. It is eleven stories high and has a frontage on both Broadway and New street. It is understood that the adjoining property at 48, 46 and 44 Broadway, running through to New street, has also been secured by the purchasers of the Tower Building. John N. Stearns, the owner of the latter, declined to discuss the report.

Negro Gets Away With $500 Worth of Watches and Rings. A negro entered the jewelry store Joseph Rider opposite the old town hall in Gravesend last night and said he wanted to look at some watches and some rings. Rider's sixteen-year-old daughter was in the store and before showing the negro anything she called her mother. Then a tray of rings and a tray of watches were brought out for his inspection. The negro took a handful from each tray and stuffed them in his pockets. Then he drew a razor and threatened to kill both women if they made an outcry. He got away before they recovered their nerva to give the alarm. The Coney Island police were telephoned to and Capt. Dooley sent his reserves to Gravesend in a trolley car. They hunted for the negro, but didn't find him. He got way with $500 worth of jewelry.

OVERDOSE OF CHLORAL,

Young Actress Taken From the Gilsey House to a Hospital-Not in Danger. The report that an actress had taken an overdose of chloral in a Broadway hotel stirred up the Tenderloin police yesterday to investigate. At the Gilsey House George Moore, the manager admitted reluctantly that one of his guests had been so ill on Monday night that he summoned a physician and later bundled her into a cab and sent her to the New York Hospital.

Moore told the police that Gertrude Greymore, a vaudeville actress, was the young woman. He said she came from St. Louis, where she had undergone an operation some time ago. Since the opera-tion she had suffered much from insomnia and a physician had given her medicine to make her sleep. She took an overdose of this accidentally on Monday night and then became fright-ened. He said he couldn't see that there was anything much the matter with the young woman, but she insisted that she be sent to the hospital. Miss Greymore was still at the bospital

Collar Chat No. 4 Stop and think!

Perhaps it may not be all the fault of the laundry that your Collars wear out so fast. Perhaps it is because your fur-
